

Soviet Kills U.S. Congo Plan

Military Talks Urgent, Khrush Tells Kekkonen

Red Boss Jolts Optimistic Tone Of Communique

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev bluntly told Finnish President Urho Kekkonen Friday measures are most necessary "before it is too late to curb the West German militarists," he said as threatening the peace of northern Europe.

That was why he has called for military consultations with Finland, on "fortifying the frontiers of Finland and the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said.

Khrushchev and Kekkonen conferred in a cottage on the outskirts of the Siberian city of Novosibirsk as the Finnish leader sought the reasons behind the Soviet Union's sudden request of Oct. 30 for military talks.

No Letup In Russ Pressure

A joint communique said the conference was held "in a spirit of open-mindedness, mutual understanding and sincere confidence" and in a "hearty and friendly atmosphere."

Despite the lack of detail, diplomats who feared the Soviet Union was preparing to compromise Finnish neutrality by demanding military bases, were heartened for a short time by the tone of the communique.

Then a report by the official Soviet news agency Tass of a later speech by Khrushchev at a luncheon for Kekkonen made clear the Soviet leader is not letting up on the pressure.

He claimed that the Soviet Union does not want to interfere in Finland's home affairs, but nevertheless charged that right-wing "Tannerites"—associates of the Social Democrat former foreign minister, Vaino Tanner—were trying to restore a "brotherhood-in-arms with the West German reactionaries and militarists."

Neutrality Peace Guarantee

"Finnish neutrality is an important guarantee of the preservation of peace" in the Baltic, he said, and the present situation requires "a further strengthening of all-round cooperation between our two countries, requires firm confidence that Finland will abide to tomorrow, as it does today, by its chosen foreign policy line"—friendship with the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union "can no longer regard the north of Europe as an area of peace and tranquility" because of military talks in Norway and Denmark by West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss and plans to set up a Danish-West German military command, Khrushchev said.

Holiday Deaths Mount Steadily

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths on the nation's roadways, in fires and from miscellaneous causes during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend moved steadily upward Friday.

Traffic deaths totaled 199, fires 21 and from miscellaneous causes 36.

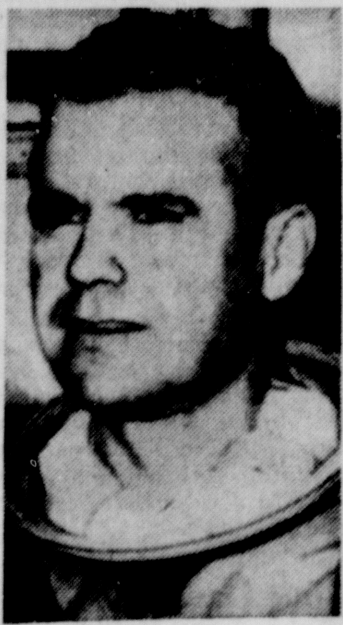

The weekend, for tabulating purposes, totals 102 hours starting at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ending at midnight Sunday.

Some unseasonable weather made driving hazardous. Snow fell in the Far West and higher elevations of the Rocky Mountain states. Rain also fell in wide sections of the country at intervals since the start of the tabulating period.

Colorado Skier Killed By Massive Avalanche

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP)—A massive avalanche thundered down an Arapahoe Basin ski slope late Friday and trapped and killed a young student.

The slide swallowed Jim Gorwin, a University of Colorado student, near the top of the treacherous Palivacinni Run.

RECORD BREAKER — Marine Lt. Col. Robert Robinson (above) piloted a Phantom II jet fighter to a new world speed record, the Navy announced yesterday in Washington. The Navy said the record, 1,606.342 miles an hour, was set Wednesday in a flight from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The only men who have traveled faster are pilots of rocket-powered planes or missile-launched spacecraft, the Navy said.

Bones Possibly Those Of Famed Aviatrix Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A radio newsmen said Friday the remains of two persons he found on Saipan Island may be those of famed aviatrix Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, whose disappearance 24 years ago touched off one of the greatest sea searches in history and created an enduring mystery.

Miss Earhart and Noonan vanished in the Pacific July 2, 1937, while trying for the second time to circle the globe in her twin-engine Lockheed Electra. The first attempt ended in a crash at Honolulu. On the second try she was believed nearing Howland Island when she sent her last, almost incoherent message, "... position unknown."

Fred Goerner of KCBS, San Francisco, who has been investigating the mystery for more than a year, said Friday bones and teeth he found on Saipan in September may be those of the truse-haired "Lady Lindy" and Noonan.

The remains, including bones and 37 teeth, are being shipped by air and are due in San Francisco Friday night.

They will be examined by University of California anthropologist Prof. Theodore McCown next week.

In July last year Goerner went to Saipan and with native divers recovered a generator that he thought might be from the Earhart plane. It proved to be of a type she could have used, but could not be traced directly to her plane.

Goerner said Friday further investigation of the wreckage in Tanapog Harbor during his latest trip proved conclusively that it was not that of the Earhart plane. Now Goerner believes the pair went down in the Marshall Islands, east of Saipan, then were brought to Saipan by Japanese who at that time occupied the islands.

In Medford, Mass., a sister of Miss Earhart said no dental charts of the aviatrix exist but that it may be possible to check the remains through charts of Noonan's teeth.

The Navy search for Miss Earhart and Noonan was spearheaded by the aircraft carrier USS Lexington and covered hundreds of thousands of square miles. Nothing ever was found.

Even Chance Son Is Alive, "Rocky" Told

Cans Used As Raft Not Found, Search Leader Points Out

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP)—A 50-50 chance still exists that Michael Rockefeller survived a 1/2-mile swim through shark-infested waters and is somewhere in the jungle, a Dutch leader of the weeklong search said Friday.

The Dutch commissioner for southern New Guinea, F. R. J. Elbrink Jansen, based his appraisal on the fact that two gasoline cans, a vital element in the hunt, have still to turn up despite the intense search by planes, ships and thousands of men.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's 23-year-old son used the two cans as a makeshift raft in his swim toward shore Sunday from his captized native boat. The fact that they are still to be found indicates he may have at least reached New Guinea's southern shore and set out for the interior, Jansen said.

Rockefeller, declaring he still is hopeful Michael is alive, said he will remain in New Guinea a few more days. But he indicated the chances for his son's survival were slim.

"I am a realist," said the New York governor, "and I know what he faces if he reached that jungle."

A dispatch from Hollandia, the capital of New Guinea on the north coast of the island, said Rockefeller is expected to return there Sunday and to leave for New York via Tokyo on Monday.

Dutch naval authorities in Hollandia still were considering a U.S. Navy offer to send carrier-based patrol planes and a helicopter to aid in the search. Two Australian navy helicopters and one from the Netherlands New Guinea Oil Co. were on the way for flights over the thickly matted mangrove swamps along the coast.

An offer by the Australian army to send in paratrooper searchers was tentatively rejected by Jansen. He said they are not familiar with the country and would be of doubtful use.

Jansen said the hunt might continue another month "or until we have conclusive word."

The search has been expanded to cover 150 miles of shoreline from the north of the Eilend River to Frederik Hendrik Island. Jansen, who has been administrator in this area for 11 years, said that if Michael did not land, the current was bound to carry the two gasoline cans to the island.

French, British Leaders Confer

LONDON (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle arrived Friday for a weekend of secret talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the Berlin crisis and other international problems.

Security precautions taken by British authorities were the strongest since the visit to Britain by now Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1956. They were designed to avert a possible attack on De Gaulle by French extremists who oppose his self-determination program for Algeria.

The De Gaulle-Macmillan meeting is one of a series of "little summit" conferences among the Western leaders to coordinate policy for a possible conference with Russia on the Berlin issue.

President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer gave Macmillan and De Gaulle a report on their talks in Washington earlier this week.

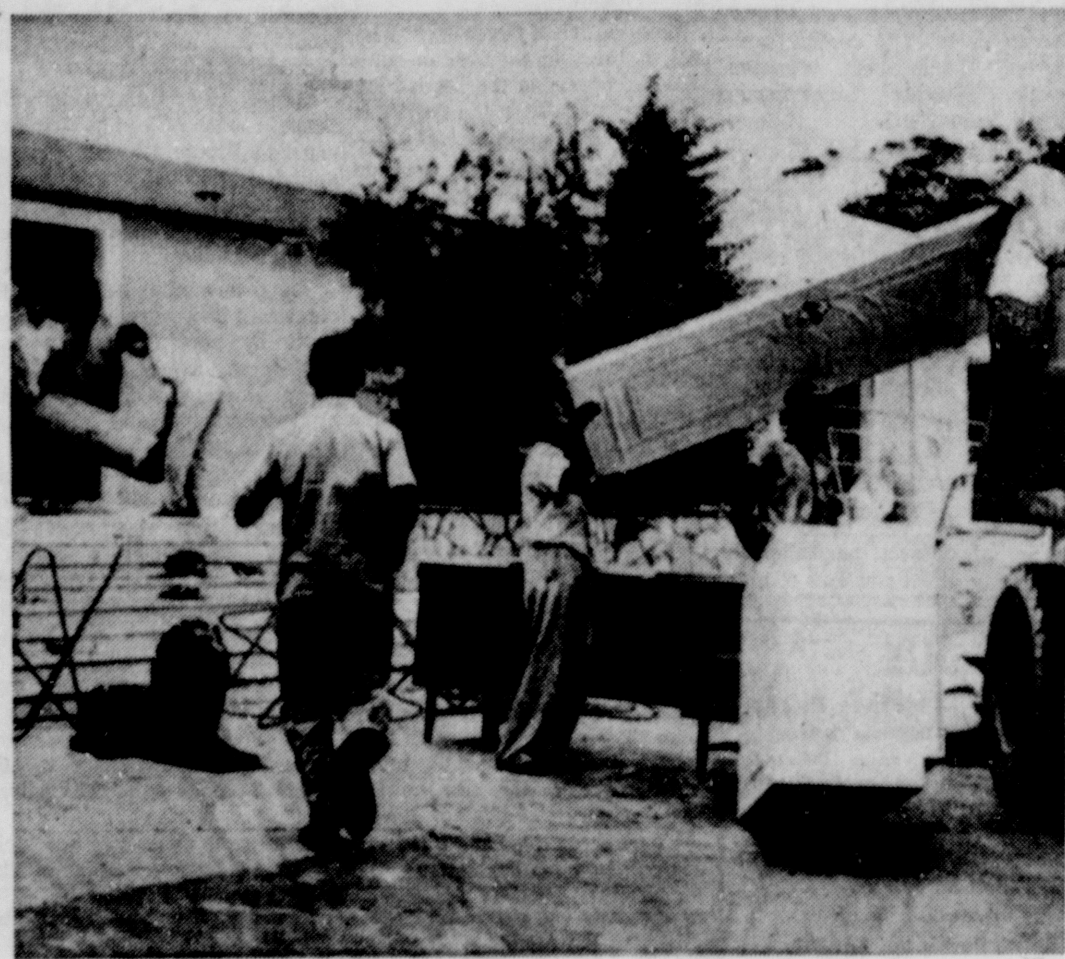

De Gaulle, accompanied by his wife, will spend the weekend at Macmillan's Sussex country home. There will be no advisers present during his discussions with Macmillan on Berlin and other East-West conflicts.

Ruth Chatterton, 68, Former Actress, Dies

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Actress Ruth Chatterton, 68, died Friday in Norwalk Hospital after an illness of a few days.

The hospital reported Miss Chatterton, whose home was in nearby Redding, had been admitted Tuesday with a cerebral hemorrhage.

Miss Chatterton had been a widow since the death last year of her husband, Barry Thompson.

Cuban Charges Denied In U.N. By Dominicans

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

The Dominican Republic declared Friday it welcomed the presence of U.S. warships off its shores as a bulwark against any attempt at invasion by Cuba "or other Communist countries."

"Blessed be the moment that the United States fleet came into our waters," the Dominican delegate, Jose Antonio Bonilla Atiles, told the U.N. Security Council.

Bonilla Atiles, who said he was a member of an opposition party in his country, and Dominican Ambassador Carlos Sanchez y Sanchez both denied Cuban charges that U.S. warships and planes had violated Dominican territorial waters.

Mario Garcia-Inchausti, the Cuban delegate, reiterated demands that the council condemn the United States as an aggressor and call for withdrawal of U.S. ships from the area.

He claimed that the Dominican people were not represented by the two Dominican delegates. He charged that the same forces which supported the Trujillo dictatorship now support President Joaquin Balaguer.

He said his country asked for the council meeting because it was threatened by aggressive actions of U.S. forces. He declared that the Dominican Republic must be freed "despite the U.S. intervention, despite the statement of the so-called representatives of the opposition."

The council put off additional debate until next Tuesday. Most diplomats believe it will merely take note of statements made, and wind up debate without taking any action on the Cuban complaint.

Only the Soviet Union has supported Cuba in its charges before the council. The United States denied them at the opening meeting on Wednesday.

As to Cuba's allegations that the United States fleet was sent to the Caribbean to establish a precedent for later action against Cuba, Sanchez asserted: "If Cuba is afraid of anything let her protect herself and leave us alone."

Candidates For Orbit Flight Nominated

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Selection of the first American to go into orbital flight is due after next week's expected launchings of a chimpanzee into space.

Informed sources said Lt. Col. John H. Glenn and Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm S. Carpenter are the leading candidates.

Glenn was backup, or alternate, astronaut for Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who rode the first Redstone rocket on a suborbital flight May 5.

Walter C. Williams, operations chief for Project Mercury, said he wants the selection of the prime astronaut and his backup announced well in advance of the orbital flight. The Redstone choices were announced at the last minute.

JFK, Aides Discuss Arms Budget Plans; May Hit $50 Billion

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)

President Kennedy sat down with the nation's top military and fiscal experts Friday, going over plans for the next year's defense budget, which may hit a peacetime record of $50 billion.

That was only one of a series of meetings. He also talked with commerce and trade experts on trade policies and on the future of the reciprocal trade treaties which expire in mid-1962.

The defense meeting reconvened after lunch for further talks on civil defense.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the civil defense session was in the nature of a survey of "what the Defense Department has accomplished and what plans it has made for the future since the agency assumed responsibility for civil defense last August."

The current estimate of defense spending in the present fiscal year is $46.85 billion. This estimate does not include $780 million which Congress voted above the Kennedy administration's request.

The Pentagon announced in mid-October that the extra funds would not be used. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who led two of the Friday conference groups with the President, has said the accelerated buildup in other categories made it unnecessary to spend the money.

Most of it was for extending production of B52 heavy bombers. The outgoing Dwight D. Eisenhower administration proposed $42.9 billion for defense in early January.

In March the Kennedy administration revised this figure to $43.8 billion, then raised it again when the Berlin crisis developed in the summer.

The President's series of meetings started more than an hour behind schedule when poor flying weather in the Cape Cod area delayed the Air Force jet plane which brought the officials from Washington to Otis Air Force Base.

The President borrowed his father's larger house for the meetings.

U.S. And Soviet Commandants Meet In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The top Soviet officer in East Berlin, Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, came across to West Berlin Friday for an hour's talk with his American opposite, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II. Both are city commandants.

The meeting was at Solov'yev's request, a U.S. spokesman said. He declined to reveal what went on, except to say "matters of mutual interest were discussed."

The spokesman said Solov'yev asked for the meeting with Watson earlier this week. The recipient of about a dozen protests from U.S., British and French commandants since the East German Communists started their Berlin wall Aug. 13, the Russian apparently asked for the appointment before the Russians delayed a U.S. Army train Thursday for 14 1/2 hours.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's envoy to Berlin, explained to Mayor Willy Brandt Friday why American officers turned over to the Communists a 20-year-old refugee who had stayed away on a train.

The explanation: It was a hard decision, but post-World War II agreements with the Russians do not give the United States extraterritorial rights on the trains. In other words the trains are not a bit of American territory like an embassy in a foreign country.

West Berliners are concerned over anything that happens on the vital lifelines connecting their isolated city to the West.

Russ Held 50 A-Tests, Not 30, Since Sept. 1, U.S. Says

UNITED NATIONS, (UPI)

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the General Assembly Friday the Soviet Union had exploded about 50 nuclear devices in the atmosphere since Sept. 1 — 20 more than previously reported.

The assembly then overrode American and British objections and passed two more ban-the-bomb resolutions which made no provision for controls.

Dean, in disclosing the 50 Russian tests, said no one but Russia knew the exact number "because of its secret society" and warned that no nation could be safe from the radioactive fallout resulting from such tests.

Effective international inspection and control.

Despite his statement the assembly passed two more anti-nuclear resolutions which provided for no controls. The resolutions, last of six voluntary measures approved by the current assembly, were recommended by the main political committee which debated them earlier.

The 103-nation assembly voted 55-0 with 44 abstentions for a resolution that declares Africa a nuclear-free zone. It then voted 55-20 with 26 abstentions for a measure that proclaims the use of nuclear weapons a violation of the U.N. charter and a crime against humanity.

The United States abstained on the Africa item and opposed the so-called "ban the bomb" resolution. The Soviet Union supported a suspension of tests without ef-

Vetoes Move For Broader U.N. Powers

Council Approves Mandate For Action Against Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Security Council laid down a new mandate Friday night for U.N. action against the Congo's secessionist Katanga Province, but only after two Soviet vetoes had killed U.S. proposals for broader U.N. authority.

The council demanded that all secessionist activities in Katanga "cease forthwith" and authorized acting Secretary-General U Thant to use force if necessary to remove the foreign mercenaries that are said to be the chief prop of the 16-month-old secession. Its vote was 9-0 for a resolution in those terms introduced by Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic. Britain and France abstained.

U Thant Asks More Troops — Immediately after, U Thant pledged he would do his best to carry out fully all resolutions of the General Assembly and Security Council—including the one just adopted—to restore order in the Congo.

He appealed to U.N. member countries, particularly the Africans, for more troops to reinforce the U.N. Congo force.

The Soviet Union used its veto against U.S. amendments to a three-nation resolution to have the council deprecate "all armed action" against the Congolese central government and to authorize the secretary-general to help that government reorganize and retrain its army "for the tasks which confront it."

These amendments might have been interpreted as empowering the U.N. force in the Congo to act against any new rebellion by the Congolese leftist, Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga. The vote on each was 9-1 with France abstaining.

Zorin Defends Vetoes — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin asserted that he wielded his negative votes simply to prevent the U.S. proposals from distracting the United Nations from the problem of wiping out the secession of provincial President Moise Tshombe's Katanga.

A third U.S. amendment also failed. It would have authorized the secretary-general "to remove or to prevent the use" against the United Nations or the Congo of any warplanes or other weapons illegally in Katanga "or any other region of the Congo."

This proposal died after the Soviet Union lost a bid to knock out the phrase extending its application beyond Katanga.

The vetoes were the 96th and 97th Soviet vetoes in the history of the United Nations.

Bandits, Million In Loot Seized

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—Robbers seized a million dollars worth of jewelry from a swank shop and blazed away at onlookers Friday. Police seized the gang and the loot in half an hour.

Three men jumped out of a stolen car, dashed into the shop of R. G. Kern on the main street of this rich Rhine River industrial city, and immediately opened fire.

As terrified employees took cover, the robbers scooped up diamonds, rings and other jewelry. Then they rushed back toward the car, with one of the men firing at a small crowd that had gathered. A 16-year-old girl was hit in the foot.

As the robber car screeched off, more than 50 policemen and detectives converged on the scene, summoned by the store's burglar alarm. A cab driver pointed out the route the robber car had taken. The trail led to a night club and within a few minutes the police rounded up four men in the basement. A blonde stripteaser and a fifth man were arrested as suspected accomplices.

Dean Says U.S. Will Both Test And Talk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chief U.S. nuclear negotiator Arthur H. Dean said Friday night the United States "absolutely" would stage new nuclear tests during the renewed Geneva test ban negotiations with Russia.

Dean, speaking to a news conference on the eve of his departure for the new three-power nuclear talks, said it was up to President Kennedy whether the new tests would include bursts in the atmosphere. But he stressed, "we reserve complete freedom of action."

CORE Official Reports Restaurants "Reneging"

By The Associated Press
An official of the Congress of Racial Equality said Friday he understands at least 10 of 35 Maryland Route 40 restaurants listed as willing to serve Negroes are refusing to do so.

If this is confirmed by direct tests this weekend, the CORE national headquarters will be asked to approve mass freedom rides along the highway, Julius Hobson said. Hobson is the CORE regional director in the Northeast.

He said 10 to 15 field workers and volunteers will conduct the weekend checks—not to challenge segregation directly but merely to determine whether Negroes can be served.

Meanwhile, in Annapolis, student pickets continue to parade in front of the Governor's Mansion in their protest against discrimination in places of public accommodation in Maryland.

In the Anne Arundel County jail, where 10 young demonstrators have been imprisoned on trespass charges since Saturday night, only one remained on a hunger strike.

He was William W. Hansen, Jr., 22, of Cincinnati. He served 70 days in a Mississippi prison after "Freedom Ride" earlier this year.

The pickers at the governor's mansion fasted for as long as 24 hours each as they marched outside Government House. Howard Green, chairman of the New York University chapter of CORE, said the number of pickets varied from five to thirty. The demonstration started Thanksgiving afternoon. Seven students accompanied Green from NYU.

"We'll be here until Sunday," Green said.

CORE had planned a freedom ride Veterans Day along U.S. 40, but postponed it after 35 restaurants agreed voluntarily to serve Negroes.

Hobson said Friday that if tests show the list has dwindled by more than three or four restaurants, another freedom ride will be scheduled.

Terry Jo Due To Leave Miami Hospital Soon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Terry Jo Duperrault probably will leave the hospital next week if she has thrown off the effects of her ordeal at sea.

"We don't intend to send her home on a stretcher," her attorney, Richard Ralph, said Friday. "It's all a case of her regaining her strength."

Terry Jo, 11, a Green Bay, Wis., girl, is the sole survivor of seven who put to sea on the ketch Bluebelle for a cruise in the Bahamas.

The vessel sank Nov. 12, carrying to the bottom her parents, Dr. Arthur Duperrault, 49, a Green Bay optometrist; his wife Jean, 38, a son, Brian, 14, and Mrs. Julian Harvey, 34, wife of the skipper.

The body of another daughter, Renee, 7, was found in a lifeboat up by a tanker.

Harvey, 44, killed himself in a Miami motel room less than 24 hours after hearing that Terry Jo also had been found alive. She was taken from a life raft by the crew of the freighter Captain Theo after tossing for 3½ days in the Atlantic.

Harvey told the Coast Guard that a squall broke the masts of the Bluebelle and knocked a hole in her hull. He said all on board jumped into the sea when fire broke out. Terry Jo said the masts did not break, she saw no fire and smelled no smoke but did see her mother and brother lying motionless on a bloody deck.

Mutual Security Savings And Loan In Receivership

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—State officials were pondering Friday what action they might take in the case of Mutual Security Savings and Loan Association, which was placed in receivership by the Montgomery County Circuit Court.

Asst. Atty. Gen. James P. Garland said the State Law Department was studying the case, and had not decided on a definite course of action.

Judge Thomas M. Anderson signed the order placing Mutual Security in receivership, and appointed Paul M. Coughlan of Silver Spring as the receiver.

Mutua Security operated through seven offices in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties and has about 7,000 depositors whose invested savings total some $3 million. All of the firm's offices have been closed.

The receivership order was the outgrowth of a petition filed in the court by several creditors and holders of savings accounts. Officers of the association, headed by Robert Harold Symonds, agreed to the action.

Charles S. Sures, the association's attorney, said the officers "reached the conclusion that orderly liquidation of the assets of the firm as expeditiously and economically as possible presented the only fair and reasonable course."

He said the action "will save depositors thousands of dollars in operating expenses and will preserve, for the benefit of the depositors, the assets of the corporation."

Sures said depositors would be notified about the amounts that

One Of World's Wealthiest Men Dies In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Axel Wenner-Gren, one of the richest men of all time who was blacklisted by the United States in World War II for his dealings with the Nazis, died in Stockholm's Red Cross Hospital Friday at the age of 80.

He had been living in Mexico but came to Stockholm last month to undergo surgery for an intestinal tumor. Doctors said at the time there was little hope for his life.

Wenner-Gren had been living in the Bahamas during the war when the United States blacklisted him for his alleged arms deals with Adolf Hitler's lieutenants and he moved to Mexico—where he owned a vast silver industry.

There was no real estimate of the fortune he possessed and many doubted he knew himself. The United States government once estimated his wealth at more than a billion dollars but admitted it could have been considerably more.

Both youths were taken to the South Baltimore hospital. Michael Barlock of Glen Burnie lost 2 fingers and a thumb of his left hand. Dennis Drenner of 112 Oak Ave., Ferndale lost a thumb and part of his index finger.

Man Held After Six Hit By Shotgun Blasts

HUGHESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Police held Friday an Aquasco man after both barrels of a shotgun were fired into a group of six persons.

Earl L. Brown, 22, Aquasco, was charged with assault and shooting. He was held in the Charles County jail at La Plata.

State Police said the six who were hit by the shotgun blast were treated at the Calvert County Hospital in Prince Frederick. They were identified as Alfonso Brooks, 40; Henry J. Brooks, 54; Kenneth L. MacCall, 22; Sidney Savoy, 45; Mrs. Althea A. Savoy, 37, and Louis E. Savoy, 18.

Police said they believed Alfonso Brooks was the intended target of the Thursday night shooting. They said he had argued with Brown earlier at a tavern.

Massive Advertising Campaign Aimed At Unchurched Families In Full Swing

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The advertising industry has been putting its many talents to work on a multi-million-dollar, month-long campaign without a single commercial angle. It is a drive to try to persuade the nation's nearly 18 million unchurched families that they need religion.

From church bulletin boards to matchbooks and from telephone calls to television appeals, the nation is being saturated with religion-oriented advertisements during the 13th annual Religion in American Life (RIAL) month.

National advertising valued at more than $10 million has been arranged free. Local contributions are believed to be worth far more than that — including appeals printed on milk cartons and bread wrappers and painted on street crossings.

Junior Chambers of Commerce, Rotary clubs and other service groups are providing restaurants with paper napkins, place mats and prayer cards bearing religious appeals in behalf of Protestants, Catholics, Jews and Orthodox groups as their part of the effort to try to attract as many families to churches and synagogues as to the television screen.

The advertising council, which arranged with J. Walter Thompson Co. to contribute its advertising skills to the campaign, estimates that 36.2 million families own television sets while 35.8 million have religious affiliations. Forty-one million families own automobiles, the council says, and 50.6 million have refrigerators. If RIAL can not make church and synagogue going unanimous, it would at least like to have it equal the popularity of TV.

The slogan for the 1961-62 effort launched this month is "Worship Together This Week . . . You Need Not Walk Alone."

These words are emblazoned on the sides of 3,000 Linden service delivery trucks across the country. They are being spoken on television programs such as the Danny Thomas Show, Maverick, Cheyenne and the Joey Bishop Show. Major magazines are carrying advertisements including the message.

One of the most active campaigns is that of the Christian Endeavor group at the First Presbyterian Church in Camden, Ohio. The young people conduct a "Dial for RIAL" drive in which they telephoned every person in the community to urge regular attendance at services. They conducted recorded man-on-the-street interviews on religion and then played them back at Sunday night discussion sessions. Prayer cards were placed in school cafeterias and a paper RIAL "hanger" was placed on every front doorknob in town.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Can't tell yet whether my son will follow in his Dad's footsteps. Blocks don't make an engineer.

But he's learning some of the basic principles of physics with which many professions deal.

On the way home from Church, when he talks about his lesson, I recognize familiar signs . . . character is still in the mold. Deep conviction, bold dedication come later. But he's grasping those basic truths on which great living rises.

For a busy engineer who used to be hit-or-miss in his church attendance, fostering the growth of a soul is a fascinating experience . . . especially as I find my own faith deepening with every reverent day!

Can't tell about his following my footsteps. But I've discovered new dimensions in life following his.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Make-Up Rescues
Sunken Cheeks

Oh, the perversity of pounds! They have the habit of appearing in all the wrong places. Not only that, wail dieters, they seem to disappear in all the wrong places, too! Especially in the face, where signs of weight loss always show up first.

This isn't, as a rule, the flattering unveiling of fashion model features, complete with high, finely-chiseled cheekbones. More often, the face wears a drawn and haggard look. Cavernous places appear where the skin has sagged. The dieter is a little disappointed, even somewhat frightened, at this sudden semblance of aging.

Be reassured if this is your problem. There's a comforting surprise in store. Once the body has adjusted completely to a maintenance diet, nature herself will soften the sharp contrasts that seem so obvious in the beginning. Hollows do fill, stretched-out skin does snap back to some degree, depending on its suppleness.

What nature cannot restore, cosmetics usually can. It takes a bit of practice with make-up foundation to bring back the illusion of fullness to hollow-out cheeks.

Cover the receding areas of the face with foundation just one shade lighter than the kind used on the rest of the face... in this case, on each side of the face from the cheekbone to the jawline. Blend the two shades carefully and be sure to work the foundation well into the hairline, to avoid patchy or masklike effects.

Once the cheeks are brought out of the shadows, a touch of rouge will heighten naturally round contours and call attention away from the hollows. Keep the rouge high. Begin at the center where the cheek is roundest, just below the eyes, (and not too close to the nose, unless you want it to look bigger). Work it well into a gentle flush that fades into the foundation without any telltale margin.

You can always encourage a sagging complexion to regain its spring by adding a cream massage to your daily skin care program. The method to use—and the emollient most beneficial to your type of skin—are explained in my pamphlet called "Secrets of Skin Care." A copy can be obtained by addressing me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper. Just be sure to enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are there any exercises to hurry away the hollows? I can suggest two good ones. One is blowing. Fill both cheeks with air until they are tight little pouches... then gradually release the air.

The other is smiling. Smile three times more than you ever did. Hollows fill magically when you smile. Facial muscles tighten. Years drop away. And why shouldn't you smile? Haven't you got something big to smile about, after all. Just think of all that weight you just lost!

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm an 18-year-old girl and very worried. Maybe there's something wrong with me. Kissing bores me.

I've gone with some awfully handsome fellows and the thought of being kissed is thrilling. But then when it actually happens, it's a real let-down. In fact, I would rather THINK about being kissed than kiss.

Do I sound like some kind of a nut? I haven't told this to anyone because I'm afraid they will think I'm a weirdo. The first kissing I ever saw was in the movies when I was about eight years old and nothing in real life has measured up to it since. Please tell me if you think I need a head-doctor.

—COLD LIPS
DEAR COLD LIPS: Anticipation is sometimes more exquisite than realization — especially if the build up has been a particularly glamorous one.

Your childhood fantasies patterned after the movies were probably so exciting that no real-life guy could possibly live up to the dream version.

If, in the next year, you are still bored with your boy friends' expressions of affection, it may be wise to see a "head-doctor" and seek to conquer the problem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You must be an iron-hearted, unfeeling woman. You show no sympathy for unhappy wives whose selfish husbands don't bother to remember birthdays or anniversaries.

My husband was always too wrapped up in himself to give me a thought on these special days. It used to hurt me terribly because my sisters never failed to phone and ask what Henry sent. I'd have to make up some lie to save my face.

A few years ago I got smart. I ordered myself a beautiful bouquet of roses and I even told the florist what to put on the card. Now every birthday and anniversary I'm assured of being remembered by "Henry." Isn't this sad? Please print your answer.

—FORGOTTEN WIFE
DEAR FORGOTTEN: Yes, it's sad alright, that any woman would attach so much importance to what her sisters think that she would buy flowers for herself and pass them off as a gift from her husband.

Gifts are a lovely gesture and nothing more. If you wives think I'm deserting the ranks, allow me to remind you that an awful lot of gift-giving is merely salve to ease a guilty conscience.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The world isn't going to stand or fall on your answer, but this question has been bugging me for some time and I'll bet it bugs a lot of other people too.

When I eat in a restaurant I never order blueberry or raspberry pie, figs, or other foods that I like very much, because the seeds get stuck in my teeth. I don't feel right about using a toothpick in public although I see an awful lot of fancy people doing it.

Can it be that my idea is old-fashioned and that the toothpick users are perfectly correct? (Continued On Page 15)

EQUITY

QUESTION:

If your equity is about 1/2 the total value of the property, is it required to show the mortgage holder on the policy?

ANSWER:

A fire insurance policy doesn't require that the mortgagee be named. However, it's a common business practice for the mortgagee to insist on being included.

Oakland Yule Decorations To Be Placed In Operation

OAKLAND—Christmas decorations for Oakland will be placed in operation next week, it was announced by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber always pays the labor costs for preparation of the strands and erection of the Yule lights. The work will be done, as in previous years, by employees of the West Maryland Power Company. City employees usually assist in making the strands. There will be the usual strands of lights across the streets in the business section, plus the pole ornaments and the decorated tree on the church lawn at the corner of Second and Liberty Streets.

The chamber has made no plans this year for any particular Christmas promotion campaign.

The annual Yuletide treat for all children in Oakland and nearby towns is being planned by the chamber. The treat usually is distributed several days prior to Christmas and last year occurred December 17. This year the date probably will be December 16, although this has not been definitely set as of the present.

Distribution will be in charge of Charles L. Briner and will take place at the corner of Second and Liberty Streets, adjacent to the church lawn.

The treat is made possible each year through contributions from business people, individuals and organizations.

Each year at least 2,500 treats are distributed.

Piedmont Sewer Bids Are Sought

PIEDMONT—Bids for the construction of sewers to connect with the waste treatment plant of the Upper Potomac River Commission near Westport will be sought in the near future.

The Mayor and Council Tuesday night authorized Charles F. Smith, Keyser, one of the town's attorneys for the project, to proceed with the preparing advertising for bids.

Plans will call for one or two pumping stations. The bid will include running the proposed line from the top of Pearl Street to a second pumping station near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the east end of town.

The construction of aagoon and sewer line from Pearl Street is a possibility if it is found that a pumping station for that area is more costly to construct and maintain.

The town plans to brighten up the business section of the downtown flat area by increasing the amount of the lumens of street lights. It was ordered that officials of the Potomac Edison Company be contacted to ascertain if the lumens in the lights could be doubled with the same fixtures; also to put up a trial light.

It was ordered to ask for bids (per man hour) for the removal of snow from several properties who have the equipment to do that kind of work.

Mrs. Myrtle Johnson complained of water running on to her property on Harrison Street. The matter will be investigated.

Councilman Michael Lannon said he had been informed that soda ash and alum dry feeders should be replaced as they are worn out. Bids for new ones will be requested.

Mrs. Romanna Patrick was granted permission to erect a marquee on the entire front of the former home of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion. She purchased the property.

Revival Series Begins Sunday

WESTERNPORT — Rev. Clarence Winkler, pastor of the Bloomington Methodist Church, will conduct evangelistic services at the Evangelical United Brethren Church beginning Sunday and continuing through December 3, according to Rev. C. F. Hickie, pastor.

The services will be held each day at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the church.

Preceding the worship each evening a service will be held at 7 p. m. in the basement of the church for the children.

The evangelism committee is composed of Mrs. Carmel Kight, Miss Kathryn Biggs, Mrs. Fay Plautner and Mrs. David Keeseker.

Teams To Practice
BARTON — The Sunday School basketball teams of Barton, sponsored by the Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church, will begin the season with practice at the Barton Elementary School at 9 a.m. today under the supervision of James Shaw. All boys in the age group are urged to attend the opening practice.

Auxiliary To Meet

West Virginia Seeks Better Credit Rating

Treasurer To Visit New York City

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Treasurer John Kelly, accompanied by four other state officials, will go to New York Dec. 1 for a meeting with representatives of the county's top credit rating companies.

Kelly hopes to persuade the companies to give West Virginia a Triple-A credit rating, an action the treasurer says could save the Mountain State a quarter million dollars a year in interest paid on bonds.

Kelly explained such a saving would be realized because bonding houses would charge less interest on bonds they purchase from the state. An example would be state road bonds.

Scheduled to accompany Kelly to the New York meeting with officials of Dun & Bradstreet, Moody's and Standard & Poor's are Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson, Auditor Denzil L. Gainer, Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett and Commerce Commissioner Hallett C. Smith.

Road Issue Less Costly

Kelly said it was his opinion that the state's financial condition has improved to the point where we should be given a Triple-A credit rating.

As an indication that financiers already are unofficially giving the state a better credit rating, Kelly noted that a $2 million road bond issue recently cost the state about $47,000 less in interest than a comparable issue sold earlier this year.

Kelly said West Virginia had a Triple-A rating about 10 years ago but since then its credit has been listed only as 'A'.

The treasurer said that among the things his group will point out during the New York meeting will be the fact that the state has not defaulted in its bond payments since formation of the Sinking Fund Commission in 1921.

Pike Bonds Defaulted

Kelly said that wasn't the case with some revenue bonds, including those sold to finance construction of the West Virginia Turnpike, but that the state's credit is not pledged in that type of transaction.

"However, even though revenue bonds are not considered, rating companies do take any such payment defaults into consideration when making up credit ratings," Kelly said.

In another step aimed at getting West Virginia a higher yield on investments, Kelly said he will ask the Legislature to permit his agency to invest in corporate bonds for a better return.

Kelly said the current law limits investments to U. S. government bonds which normally return only about 3 per cent. Other type bonds would return 4 to 5 per cent.

Four new members were received into the Auxiliary making their total membership 20.

Final plans for a public supper will be made at their next meeting November 27. Mrs. Margaret Rodriguez, president, presided at the meeting.

Army Engineers To Hold Hearing On River Plans

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — All residents of the South Branch Valley area interested in the Potomac River and its future are invited to attend a hearing conducted by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, who will present their findings on developing water resources in the Potomac Basin at the Moorefield Firemen's Hall Friday, December 1 at 7:30.

The Corps of Engineers has four basic plans it feels will meet the water needs of the Potomac Basin for the next 50 years. The study will not be completed until next June but after a five year study the Corps feels most of the answers are clear enough to unveil general conclusions to the public.

All interested persons are invited to attend the hearing, get acquainted with the facts, form a judgment of what is heard and make their views known.

Each of the four basic plans to be recommended incorporates some 400 small watershed impoundments of the type now being built up the South Fork of the South Branch river. The first plan, called the Main Stem and Upper Basin Plan, consisting of 12 major reservoirs, would cost $425,000,000. Most of the reservoirs under this plan are located in the upper reaches of the basin.

The second plan, called the Major Tributary Plan, consists of 17 reservoirs. This plan would flood more acres and has less capacity for the control of floods but has the largest recreational potential. Cost is approximately $484 millions.

The third plan is called the Alternate Major Tributary and is similar to the second plan except it shifts a major reservoir from the lower Shenandoah Valley to the South Fork of the Shenandoah, above Front Royal, Va. Total cost of this plan is $478 millions.

The fourth plan is called the Upper Basin Plan and consists of 20 reservoirs which includes all the reservoirs proposed in the other three plans except the three largest Riverbend, Lower Shenandoah and Lower South Branch. Cost is estimated at $506 millions.

At the hearings a brief background presentation of the reasons for the adoption of one of the four plans will be given including the population and economic growth of the Potomac Basin, water supply in the basin, reasons for water quality control, recreational facilities, flood control and land and forest treatment including fish and wildlife resources.

The salt blocks used for cattle on U.S. pastures and ranges are formed under pressures of some 560 tons.

Local College Now Accepting Applications

Applications for admission to second semester courses at Allegany Community College are being received, according to William H. Smerling, registrar.

Prospective students may contact the registrar's office to obtain the necessary forms which must be completed and returned before a letter of acceptance will be issued. All admission materials must be on file at the Frederick Street college by January 15.

In order to have an application for admission considered, the student who intends to be enrolled for a degree curriculum will have to complete an application as a regular student, supply a transcript from all institutions attended, including the high school record, take the entrance examination, have a medical report on file, have an affidavit concerning residence on file, and supply a recent photograph.

For those students who wish to be considered a special student, it will be necessary to complete and return an application as a special student, supply a transcript from all institutions attended, including the high school record, have an affidavit concerning residence on file, and supply a recent photograph.

The registrar said that all transcripts of academic records must come direct from the issuing institution without passing through the hands of the applicant. This, noted the registrar, is normal and accepted procedure.

Entrance tests will be given Tuesday, January 2, and Wednesday, January 3, at 9 a. m.; Wednesday, January 3 and Thursday, January 4, at 6 p. m.

Registration will be conducted January 31 and February 1 from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Classes will begin February 5 at 8 a. m. Allegany Community College, which has over 100 students enrolled, opened in September.

Hunters Warned About Trespassing

A warning was issued by Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke to hunters who trespass on the property of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch.

These grounds are heavily posted and hunting or trespassing on posted property carries a penalty of from $25 to $100.

In addition, the person convicted on this charge will have his hunting license revoked for a year.

So far, game wardens have issued warning tickets to all hunters found on the Pittsburgh Plate grounds, but from now on, Minke said, all trespassers apprehended will be prosecuted.

The trespassing charge, the regional game warden explained, is more severe than a game law violation because the latter does not revoke a hunter's license.

Plant police also have the powers of a game warden to arrest any person found hunting there.

Uncertain Role Of The Reserve

Defense Secretary McNamara's apparent satisfaction with the nation's current buildup in military manpower offers only partial encouragement to reservists already called to active duty and to those still on standby status at home.

No large additional call-ups from the National Guard or Reserve are planned, according to Mr. McNamara, and there is to be no freezing of the 156,000 active-duty reservists beyond the year of extra service that has been authorized by Congress. Everything depends, of course, upon developments in Berlin and Southeast Asia.

Understandably, some reservists are complaining that after having been hurried back to active duty, they now are being held aimlessly in training areas. Reserve units placed on alert at their home stations also want to know what happens next.

As a temporary boost to morale, the services plan to follow, wherever possible, a liberal policy on holiday leaves. Also, current shortages of equipment are being filled to step up training programs, and a greater effort is being made to explain to the reservists their role in the present emergency.

But these are stopgap measures, just as the ready reservists are themselves organized to meet sudden emergencies. If, as President Kennedy has said, the nation faces a long period of armed tension, then the Pentagon should make it clear that future manpower needs will be met through an equitable, orderly expansion of the whole military establishment rather than through a disproportionate reliance on the reserve.

These Days

Rockefeller's Misfortunes

The United States has an astonishing divorce rate but when we find our public men doing as we do, we tear their eyes out. Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York was, up to this week, the leading aspirant for the Republican nomination for the Presidency in 1964. Then his wife started action for divorce and the puritanical attitude of our people asserted itself.

Up to the moment of the announced divorce, Rockefeller was regarded as an extraordinarily devout Baptist, the son and grandson of extraordinarily devout Baptists, although actually we know nothing about the private lives of any of these persons or of any others unless we are members of their families or extremely intimate friends.

It used to be customary in this country for the husband to drive his wife into the biting cold and snow when she sinned. The husband was expected to sin and if he misbehaved too overtly, his wife sued for divorce; it was unmanly for a man to denounce the morals of his wife. Now, either one asserts moral superiority and turns to the courts to demand righteous treatment. Usually, both are to blame.

The public generally assumes that there are two causes for divorce: adultery and miserliness. Actually, all sorts of abuses occur in a family which lead to its collapse. The word, incompatibility, is often used to cover a multitude of errors.

It is a little hard to understand why a man and woman who have been married 31 years should want to be divorced. It seems a waste of time. If incompatibility is the reason, the intervening period has been too long for any novel misunderstanding. If it is adultery, the likelihood is that no sudden discovery is the motive. In the case of the Rockefellers, it cannot be miserliness or excessive expenditures. There is no advantage in speculation and the conclusion must be reached that there is some miserable pride in all this.

But the public is likely to search for hidden motives and this search, rather than the unavailable truth, will damage Nelson Rockefeller's political career. The divorce comes at a moment when he is to run for his second term for Governor and upon this election depends his prospects for the Presidency. No divorced man has been elected President of the United States, although there is no law against it. Grover Cleveland was chosen for the Presidency despite a generally accepted illicit parenthood on his part.

Woodrow Wilson suffered a mass of rumors of an improper relationship with the wife of a colleague at Princeton. Actually a Congressional committee indirectly investigated this matter when Justice Brandeis' confirmation came before the Senate. I have learned who helped Wilson over this tough spot but am pledged to silence which I shall keep, as the matter is of no personal or historic importance.

There were always tales about Franklin D. Roosevelt, most of which sounded impossible and ridiculous. Adlai Stevenson was divorced when he was Governor of Illinois and this led to a series of rumors, most of them too vile to repeat. The public jumps at every possibility of moral turpitude, since as a matter of fact, these personal tragedies are not anything that the public knows and they leave a sad memory that lasts through life. Anthony Eden's career was nearly wrecked by a divorce; the Duke of Windsor was forced to give up his crown because he married a divorced woman.

There is considerable unfairness in all this because it is not known which is the guilty party. For instance, Princess Margaret was not permitted to marry Peter Townsend because he was a divorced man, although admittedly innocent.

I have no inside dope on the Rockefeller situation. Cholly Knickerbocker, the society columnist, who is more reliable than most in his trade, has written about it, but he apparently knows no more than any of the rest of us, which is unusual because he has a penchant for uncovering the foibles of others.

The conclusion must be reached from the available information that here are two adults who should have better sense and who should kiss and make up. No political adversary of Nelson Rockefeller wants any kind of gain out of this sort of tragedy. Surely Barry Goldwater and Richard Nixon would rather defeat him in the Convention than in the bed-chamber.

The Basis Of De Gaulle's Concern Over Berlin

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS
Studying Paris from Washington, the American policymakers have apparently constructed a fairly sinister interpretation of President de Gaulle's recent dealings with the ever-present problem of Berlin.

De Gaulle expects a bad outcome at Berlin, so this American theory runs. He wishes to be able to blame the United States for this outcome. Above all, he wishes to be free from blame himself, and thus to appear before the West Germans as the one truly dependable ally. De Gaulle's aim, in short, is to strengthen the Franco-German partnership so much that it will replace the German-American partnership.

There may indeed be some such Machiavellian afterthoughts, intermingled with the larger considerations which have led de Gaulle to adopt a fairly disdainful hands-off posture. But that is relatively unimportant. These afterthoughts should not have crossed the French President's mind unless he already expected the Berlin crisis to end badly.

The question, in fact, is whether de Gaulle's pessimistic expectation is well-founded. If he has rightly judged the present trend of Western policy-making, very little else matters, at least for the moment.

To begin with, the chasm that now divides Paris and Washington plainly originates in a basic difference of emphasis and viewpoint. Washington is deeply worried about the future of Berlin, partly because American prestige will be so disastrously damaged if the American commitment to the free Berliners is not fully honored. But Washington tends to take West Germany for granted, as though the Germany of Konrad Adenauer would go on forever.

Paris, in contrast, is deeply concerned about West Germany as a whole, and only concerned about Berlin because the future of Berlin will affect the future of Germany. Thus de Gaulle was passionately and quite sincerely alarmed when he thought he discovered an American tendency "to give away bits of West Germany, in order to buy tranquility at Berlin."

It has to be admitted that there are grounds for this suspicion. In his conversations with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Secretary of State Dean Rusk spontaneously introduced "European security" as a possible topic of East-West negotiations. A little later, in the quadripartite working group in Washington, the Americans spontaneously suggested that it might be wise to think about an East-West agreement permanently banning nuclear armament for West Germany's military forces.

To the Europeans as well as the Russians, the "European security" means the Rapacki Plan or one of the other NATO-crippling schemes for "thin out" or "disengagement." The fact that Rusk brought up the idea, on his own motion, caused great alarm in Bonn. So did the other proposal.

HOLY MACKEREL—President Kennedy's White House luncheon for visiting President Leopold Sedar Senghor of Senegal took place on a recent Friday.

As both men are Roman Catholics the entree was "truites aux amandes," or trout with almonds. But one of the other guests, whose name the White House kitchen will not reveal, asked for and got a sirloin steak. No one in authority will say whether the individual had an allergy or an illness, or simply didn't like trout.

But it is the first record of a guest at the White House ordering something not listed on the chosen menu. The occurrence was rare enough to be brought to the attention of some reporters who cover the social goings on in the executive mansion.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT—A government official insists the following story is true:

A guide was taking some visitors on a tour of one of the larger government departments. He was showing his charges a new floor of executive suites and opened the door of one of the conference rooms where a government official was surprised in the act of kissing his secretary.

The juicy tid-bit of gossip circulated throughout the building and it was decided that disciplinary action would have to be taken. The decision: he was transferred to another floor!

How To Protect Rheumatic Fever Patients?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Canadian mother writes: "My 7 year old son had what our doctor called a borderline case of rheumatic fever two years ago. His sed rate was 16 and I kept him in bed for five weeks until it dropped to 5. There has been no apparent damage to his heart."

"The doctor advised me to take good care of the boy for a year or two and the chances are he will outgrow the danger of recurrence. I am to call him immediately at the first sign of fever. In the last two years he has had several long lasting penicillin needles, and penicillin capsules have been ordered a few times for flu infection. His sed rate has stayed down; it was 4 the last time tested.

"Now, how do I take good care of him? I don't want him to feel smothered but I know how important it is to keep him well. Should he be put to bed at the first sniffle and kept home from school on a rainy day? He complains of an ache here or there occasionally. Aspirin clears it up but I still worry."

Recurrences of rheumatic fever are discouraged by avoiding the streptococcal infections that trigger the disease. This can be done in various ways. The first and least practical is to stay away from anyone with a cold or to move to a climate where streptococcal infections are not prevalent.

The second is along the lines suggested by your physician. Watch the child carefully and see that he gets a large dose of penicillin at the first sign of a cold. No attempt is made to determine whether the respiratory infection is caused by strep bugs. The physician assumes it is and gives enough medication to kill every streptococcus in the body.

The third method is recommended most often for children. The youngster is given a daily capsule or pill containing a sulfonamide or an antibiotic. An alternative is a monthly injection of a long acting penicillin mixture that takes 30 days to absorb. These methods keep the body free from strep germs and prevent them from establishing a beachhead. This is logical because it is the streptococcal infection that triggers rheumatic fever, which usually follows in 10 to 14 days.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A high-ranking member of the British delegation at the U.N. told me of a weekend visit to a home for overworked V.I.P.'s who had suffered nervous breakdowns and were being nursed back slowly to normal. One of these temporarily deranged bigwigs was laboring under the unfortunate delusion that he was the Good Lord himself.

The Britisher, lunching with him, decided to humor him, and remarked, "Am I correct in my assumption that you created the universe in six days, and then rested on the seventh?"

The ailing V. I. P. stood up angrily and announced, "I never discuss my business problems while I am eating."

Next month is the time when Wall Street publicists and analysts rush into print with predictions for the coming year's economy.

The fact that they may have proved spectacularly wrong on numerous previous occasions doesn't stop them from pontificating with equal certainty again. Bernard Baruch calls this year-end roundup time "The season of excess prophets."

Pearson Sees 'Dangerous Minority' In Armed Forces Right-Wingers

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES—There was an angry snarl and an ominous over-tone among the pickets surrounding the Hollywood Palladium where President Kennedy spoke last week. Inside he was denouncing "crusades of suspicion" and those frustrated Americans who call for "a man on horseback." Outside frustrated Americans were creating more suspicion.

President Kennedy could have gone further and called the roll of the leaders of the "sixth column" inside the United States; for unfortunately that column is penetrating deeper. Most alarming of all there has developed inside the armed forces of the United States and the reserves a movement not unlike that in the French army which tried to topple President de Gaulle.

The great majority of U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force officers remain dedicated to the Constitution and the civilian government they have sworn to protect. But there are signs of a dangerous minority which is not.

And with the Senate Armed Services Committee conducting hearings next week on the so-called muzzling of the military, this might be the time to call the roll of the military men who want to charge into politics. Here is part of the roll-call:

Gen. P. A. Del Valle, retired, of the U. S. Marines—has already come close to urging armed insurrection. In an appeal published last month, he called upon the public first "to vote the traitors out" but suggested ominously that if this should fail, there is "yet another course of action left: the organization of a powerful, armed resistance force to defeat the aims of the usurpers and bring about a return to constitutional government."

By "traitors" and "usurpers" he made it clear that he meant the present elected government. "When the day comes," wrote General Del Valle, "that the people, in the exercise of their constitutional rights and sovereignty, once take to arms as they did in 1776, then must the traitors take flight."

General Del Valle, incidentally, is drawing $855.74 a month retirement pay from the government he would like to throw out. Maj. Arch Roberts, author of the pro-blue program—Now stationed on active duty at Fort Lee, Va. Major Roberts' name came to light during the Army's investigation of Gen. Edwin Walker, who said that his campaign to indoctrinate troops in Germany was based on the pro-blue campaign.

Further investigation shows that Major Roberts has been using the franked envelopes of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, chief champion of General Walker, to circulate material attacking the overseas weekly, the GI Journal which first exposed General Walker's activities. It has also been established that Roberts mailed out other material, including an attack on his chief, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, and also flooded the mails with copies of a letter from the defender of the French army insurrection, Hilaire DuBarrier, who compared the American critics of General Walker to the French authorities who prosecuted the French rebel generals who tried to overthrow de Gaulle.

Carer In Danger
The Major's name also came up at a secret meeting of New York Chapter 26 of the John Birch Society where Gene Groves, a newsman who penetrated the meeting, reported that a Mrs. Byron announced:

"Our letter-writing campaign is going magnificently. And Major Roberts is doing a wonderful job. His whole career would be in danger if the Army knew he was working with us. But be sure to use your names, the names of other groups to which you may belong, operate through other organizations. We must not associate the campaign with the John Birch Society."

"There's a group in the Pentagon—Major Roberts told me this himself—on the lookout for us, just waiting for a chance to connect the letter writing to the idea of the John Birch Society, to smear and ruin General Walker."

When Major Roberts was queried in Fort Lee by Jack Anderson of my staff, he commented: "I'm not responsible for what people say about me."

"But how do you suppose these John Birch people got your name?" Anderson asked.

"I don't care to comment beyond what I have already said," Roberts replied.

"Are you a member of the John Birch Society?"

"I don't care to comment," the Major replied. He offered, however, to send Anderson some of the sam pro-blue material which he had provided General Walker. Disgruntled "Shellbacks"

It is impossible to estimate how many officers belong to the right-wing clique. They probably are few in number compared with the loyal, patriotic officers who believe in civilian rule. However, a few disgruntled military shellbacks are working secretly with Senator Thurmond, himself a major general, and have smuggled documents to him, including military plans of the highest classification.

Some of these documents have been traced to the office of Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, the Army's research chief, who is about to retire.

Another general of the right is Gen. G. S. Meloy who now commands the Eighth Army in Korea and who was identified by his friend General Walker, during Army cross-examination, as one who had furnished him with John Birch literature and shares his political views.

However, the favorite candidate of the right-wingers for a man on horseback is General Walker, commander of the troops at Little Rock, which enforced integration, who has now become the darling of Senator Thurmond, bitter foe of integration, and who is slated to be the center of Senate hearings next week. More about him in a future column. (Copyright 1961, By The Bell Syndicate)

An Insoluble Problem — Part Three

The police got Garcia. Carmen's big dark eyes shimmered with tears. It did no good. They took him away. Nobody went bail. In a cell, he begged for a fix and he shook the bars and wept. No one had mercy. Nobody trusts a junkie. He will confess to anything, implicate anybody, in return for a fix.

Garcia went to prison. Carmen had two babies, no job, and a habit. She began to feel increasingly sick. One day she went to the clinic at Bellevue. They made x-rays. Carmen had tuberculosis. They told her that she was a menace to her babies. She was 19 and she was finished. Burned out.

She found that she was not worth $10 a day to any man. That much was necessary—before food or shelter—for heroin. Most of the women turn automatically to prostitution, just as the men turn to burglary. She found that her parents knew the truth. So Carmen remained away. She was at one more crossroads—the final one.

Someone said that mer at the Educational Alliance were interested in helping kids kick the habit. Carmen knew about the "Edgies." They were charitable Jews who had opened the Educational Alliance at 197 East Broadway many years ago. They wanted to help poor Jewish immigrants.

In recent years, they had opened their hearts and their checkbooks to Puerto Ricans, Negroes, Chinese, Caucasians — anybody who lived on the East Side and needed help. They operated on a small budget—$800,000 a year—furnished by the Jewish Federation and they had put game rooms, a dance floor, pool tables and a gymnasium in their building.

The poor, the hurt, the sick came reluctantly. They had to be coaxed. Carmen thought about it for a long time. Then she went there and they arranged for her to go to a city hospital. They arranged for her infants to get some care. They told her to worry about nothing except herself, because lots of addicts check into a hospital, but few remain cured. She was going to need cast iron guts to make the grade.

Carmen took the long chance. She was put in a ward with women who seemed to be pathetically insane. Some moaned. Some rocked. Some stared stonily. One had sores all over her body. One addict was pregnant and had a baby that didn't look like a baby. No one tapered Carmen's habit off gently. It was a cold water cure.

She sustained the cramps, the sweats, the horrifying nightmares, even an operation for a resection of one lung, and Carmen won her fight. Or, rather, the first battle. She gained weight, the black was erased from under her eyes, and she began to take an interest in her hair and her clothes.

It was a nine month struggle. When she came out, Larry Zicht of the Edgies met her. He told her that her babies were fine. They were with her mother. Her parents now knew the whole story, and they wanted her to take a small flat over their own. It wasn't much, but, if she got a job, grandma could watch the babies all day.

Her father met her at the door. They looked at each other a moment. This time, it was he who wept. He took her in his arms and, in Italian, he said: "Welcome to your home." Carmen was 20. It took time for her to trust anyone enough to unlock her heart, but the family had patience.

She got a job. Then she said she was through with Garcia. Carmen's church does not subscribe to divorce, but she got one anyway. She also got a job. Then she went to Larry Zicht and some of the executives of the Edgies and asked if she could work part-time with them. She wanted to talk to addicts.

Carmen has been free of drugs four years. Last year she met Lorenzo, a Puerto Rican who (she laughs when she tells this) does not believe in drinking or smoking, only dancing. He works overtime in a lamp factory and saves money. She married this young man and leads a tame life. Their first baby, a boy, was born last month.

On the good days, if you walk the East Side, you will see a young lady in a windbreaker, talking to addicts at Junkie's Corner. Her speech is always the same: "I was on it, and I can tell you that you can't kick it by yourself. You have to go to a hospital. I'll help you. I'll stand by you. I won't let them hurt you. But you have to make the first move yourself."

She was talking to Louis that day. He listened politely, and he smiled. He is only a boy, but he needs two fixes a day. He won't do anything, yet. He is learning how to steal $30 a day.

"Know what I'm doing now?" Carmen said. "I'm talking to groups of boys and girls 10 years old. I'm trying to warn them about drugs before the pushers get to them."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

A Navy flyer 'chuted safely from a height of 25,000 feet into a Wisconsin swamp. Must have found it pretty sticky going!

REUNION with the MISSIONS COMPLETED — 1943.

The "Memphis Belle" prepares to leave England for the U. S. after dropping her 25th bombload on Germany in World War II. She also shot down eight German planes.

Waist gunner Cecil Scott, right, greets his old pals, Robert Morgan and Vincent Evans at Memphis airport, as Robert Hansen and C. E. Winchell look on.

While his buddies listen, Casimer A. Nastal, right, has the floor for one of the innumerable war stories that flowed during the reunion.

Standing near the B-17, Robert Hansen, left, and Robert Morgan reminisce with Miss Margaret Polk, for whom the plane was named.

Though all class reunions are pretty much alike, a recent get together in Memphis, Tenn., was pretty different.

As is often the case, waistlines are bigger, hairlines have receded and talk is all about the old school. That was true here. But the "class" was quite special. They are the crew of the "Memphis Belle," one of the most famous bombers in World War II.

The first American bombing crew to fly 25 missions, their much decorated group returned to the States in 1943 where their B-17, the "Memphis Belle" was retired. It is now on permanent display in Memphis.

For the first time since the crew broke up in 1943, the men got together to see the old plane, reminisce, and to visit the girl the plane was named for—Miss Margaret Polk of Memphis. They came from California, New York, North Carolina—all over.

Though they had to struggle to get everyone to Memphis, they had a ball. Assiduously avoiding any schedule, they managed to spend a weekend telling tales and catching up with present situations of each man and laying plans for the next reunion.

Their exploits were told in a movie, "The Memphis Belle," but some were known only to the men. Like the time when flak hit the nose and one flier thought it was snowing in the plane. The shrapnel had hit some books and filled the air with little bits of flying paper. . . or when one man thought he was hit when a broken hydraulic line shot red fluid all over him and was ready to bail out. . . Endless tales. . .

The "Memphis Belle" was the same, and so was the crew, except for receding hairlines and expanding waists, as they posed in Memphis during reunion.

Bowl Bids Are Pending Outcome Of Today's College Grid Games

Seven Of Top 10 Teams To Close Season

Alabama, Ole Miss idle; Maryland To Play Virginia Eleven

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seven of the nation's Top Ten college football teams wind up their regular campaigns Saturday and most of them plan not to get too far away from their telephones.

From Pasadena, Calif., to Miami, from New York to New Orleans and Dallas, promoters of the postseason bowl games will be busy trying to pluck the juiciest gridiron plums.

Of the ranking elevens, top-rated Alabama, Texas (No. 5) and Mississippi (No. 6) are idle. Alabama — with Rutgers, one of the last two major unbeaten and untied teams — has the weekend off while preparing for the Dec. 2 date with Auburn. Texas whipped Texas A&M 25-0 Thursday and clinched a spot in the Cotton Bowl, where it probably will play Mississippi. The latter has a Dec. 2 game with Mississippi State.

Seek Rose Bowl Bid

Unbeaten but once-tied Ohio State, No. 2, and Minnesota, No. 3, still have Rose Bowl aspirations despite reports that the Pacific Coast is making eyes in the direction of Alabama.

Ohio State is a touchdown favorite over Michigan at Ann Arbor in a game to be televised in the midwest region. Minnesota, which has won seven toughies in a row after an opening loss to Missouri, tackles Wisconsin at Minneapolis.

Fourth-ranked Louisiana State (8-1) plays Tulane at Baton Rouge and, if victorious as expected, immediately will announce acceptance of a bid to the Orange Bowl at Miami. There the Bayou Tigers, who upset mighty Mississippi, will play a representative from the Big Eight—either Colorado (7-1) or Kansas (6-2-1).

Kansas, No. 10, is host to Missouri and Colorado, No. 7, closes with Iowa State at home.

Arkansas, No. 9, can tie Texas for the Southwest Conference championship by beating Texas Tech.

Rice Also Prospect

If they can lick Texas Tech, the Arkansas Razorbacks look like a cinch for the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. Rice, which faces giant-killer TCU, also is a prospect with the Blue Bonnet Bowl another possibility.

UCLA and Southern California, two bitter Los Angeles rivals, clash for the Rose Bowl host berth.

Michigan State is the only team in the top 10 not working up a sweat over the bowl developments. The Spartans, 6-2 and ranked eighth nationally, play Illinois in their final game and then they're through.

In the East, Rutgers hopes to complete its first perfect season with a victory over Columbia, which already has clinched a tie for the Ivy League championship. Princeton and Harvard can gain a share of the Ivy title by beating Dartmouth and Yale, respectively, in their final games.

Terps Must Win

Syracuse plays at Boston College in a game to be viewed by Eastern and Southern television audiences. Syracuse already has been picked for the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia Dec. 16.

Maryland, holding a conditional bid, must beat Virginia to play Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. Washington and Washington State meet in the regional television game for the West Coast. California is at Stanford and Oregon State at Oregon for traditional battles.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — George King, who compiled a 23-4 record in his first season as West Virginia University basketball coach, has been named West Virginia college coach-of-the-year.

King was voted the award by the West Virginia Sports Writers Association, getting 20 of 56 votes, it was announced Friday.

Miteff Quits Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Argentine Alex Miteff, once a leading heavyweight contender, has quit the ring and taken a job with a television and movie producer.

He suffered a deep, long cut requiring 16 stitches in losing on a fourth round technical knockout to Ray Batey, a comparative novice, 10 days ago.

Miteff now 26, has a pro record of 24-12-1, including 14 knockouts. He was stopped seven times.

SMITH RAMBLES FOR BIG GAIN — Colin Smith (32), hard-running Fort Hill High halfback, circles his left end on a 12-yard scamper which featured the Sentinels' drive to their second touchdown against the Allegany High Campers in Thursday's Thanksgiving Day clash in the mud and rain at Fort Hill stadium. Grabbing Smith by the arm to make the tackle is Allegany's Mike Harvey (44). Smith was Fort Hill's leading ground gainer as the Sentinels captured the city football championship by a 14-0 score. The Fort Hill junior picked up 98 yards in 17 carries for a 5.6 average.

Rutgers Seeks Perfect Mark

Unbeaten Knights To Meet Columbia

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — With Rutgers seeking perfection and Columbia seeking prestige, more than 24,000 persons were expected to be drawn to Saturday's football game here—the most important Scarlet-Lion clash in 34 meetings.

The game was rated the biggest in the East this weekend. Rutgers, 8-0 this year and with an 11-game victory streak on the line, will be gunning for its first undefeated and untied season in its 93-year history. The Lions were itching for a chance to avenge last year's 43-2 shellacking by the Scarlet Knights.

Rutgers was rated a two-point favorite mainly on the basis of past performances. Against the same opponents, the Knights had the edge, having topped Princeton, 16-13, Lehigh 32-15, and Penn, 20-6, while Columbia lost to the Tigers, 30-20, and Lehigh, 14-7, before it could overpower Penn, 37-6.

NFL Plans Pairings In Case Of Ties

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League Friday summoned representatives of all teams with a mathematical chance of winning the division titles to New York for a coin-flipping ceremony to determine pairings in case of ties.

The meeting will be held at NFL headquarters next Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. EST.

The Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions are the leading teams in the Western Division, while the New York Giants, Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles are in contention in the East. Other teams not mathematically eliminated after Sunday's games also will be on hand.

The coin flip will determine possible playoff sites, as well as pairings and byes in the event one division ends in a three-club tie. The date set aside for a division playoff is Sunday, Dec. 24.

Navy Plebes Win

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Navy Plebes buried Columbian Prep with a 22-point victory Friday for a convincing 44-14 victory to close their 1961 football season.

It was the seventh triumph in eight games for the Middle Plebes who lost only to the Maryland freshmen.

Lakers Win Over Knicks, 100 To 89

Baylor And West Score 57 Points

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 100-89, Friday night in the National Basketball Association's lowest-scoring game of the season.

Elgin Baylor, with 34 points and Jerry West with 23, led the Lakers. Richie Guerin had 29 points and Johnny Green added 16 to top the Knicks scores.

The Knicks jumped off to a 7-1 lead but saw it disappear almost immediately before a 10-1 Laker surge. The Lakers were never headed thereafter and led by as much as 17 points with five minutes remaining in the third period, 70-53.

New York chipped away and lowered the deficit to five points, 81-76, midway through the final period but Guerin fouled out with four minutes and 47 seconds to play and Dave DeB, substituting for the injured Willie Naulls, also fouled out a minute later.

The Lakers iced the game with an eight-point streak and increased their Western Division league-leading record to 15-3.

Nuggets Are Victors

The Golden Nugget defeated Frank's Tavern, 3-0, Wednesday night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. High scorers were Joann Duckworth with 32 for the Nuggets and Rose Bowers with 14 for Frank's.

GETTING THEIR IRISH UP—Notre Dame's sports publicist, Charlie Callahan (center rear), gives the Irish side of the controversial place kick rule infraction to the Football Writers at a Chicago luncheon after showing movie clips of the game with Syracuse. Callahan said that Notre Dame felt that any infraction, whether on the first play or the last play of the game, must be penalized or the rules are at fault. The Big Ten and the Eastern College Athletic Conference ruled that Notre Dame beat Syracuse, 17 to 15, on an erroneous ruling by game officials. With seconds to go, Joe Perkowski of Notre Dame failed on a field-goal try, but a roughing penalty was called and with no time left Perkowski then booted a placement which won the game.

Giles Opposed To "Spitball"

Disagrees With Frick And Cronin

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Warren Giles, president of the National League, said Friday he was opposed to legalizing the "spitball," calling it a "freak pitch that never had its place in baseball."

Giles' opinion thus disagreed with that held by commissioner Ford Frick and American League president Joe Cronin.

The NL's top official said he was not among those who believe that today's pitchers need help. "The home run is the most exciting play in baseball," he said. "It is my firm belief that the long ball, particularly the home run is what the fans come out to see."

Giles said, "in all other sports today, the emphasis is on offense. While the other games are winning support by stepping up scoring, we talk about cutting it back. I just don't get it," he added.

"I can't see any reason for legalizing a 'freak pitch' when—during the period it was outlawed—baseball reached its greatest heights of popularity," he said.

Giles pointed out that with the increase of home runs, the scoring of runs has not increased measurably in recent years. In 1930, the NL scored 7,025 runs compared to 5,600 in 1961.

He added that Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves won 300 games without the "spitball" and Sandy Koufax this year broke Christy Mathewson's record for strikeouts in one season.

Coward said the 1963 schedule will open with a new opponent—West Virginia—and include battles with Michigan, Southern Methodist, Virginia Military Institute and cross-state rival Maryland.

Coward said the 1963 card calls for four home games in the Navy-Marine Corps Stadium, the most here since the stadium was completed in 1959. The Navy home games will be with William and Mary, VMI, Pitt and Maryland.

McElfish, Bradfield, Guyton Are Football's Top Scorers

Keyser Back Heads Area, PVC; LaSalle Player Leads City

Terry McElfish of LaSalle, Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, of Keyser, and Dwight Guyton of South Hagerstown High School were the top scorers in tri-state area football for the 1961 season.

McElfish edged his teammate Bill Stakem for city honors by the margin of one point, 56 to 55, while Colin Smith, of Fort Hill finished third with 50 tallies.

Led CYO In 1958

Three years ago McElfish led the Catholic Youth League scorers with 61 points while playing for SS. Peter & Paul eleven.

Tery is the first Explorer to pace the city scorers since 1954 when Harold Hudson was the leader with 111 tallies.

After Hudson copped the title seven years ago, the leaders in order were Bob Fletcher, Allegany (67), Dalton Hillegas, Fort Hill, 54 and 57 in 1956 and 1957, Bill Koerner, Fort Hill, 96 in 1958, and Bob Gaffney, Allegany, 84 and 102 in 1959 and 1960.

The all-time scoring record of 138 points in a season was established by Earl "Lefty" Bruce of Allegany in 1948.

McElfish scored the most extra points in the city this season—a total of eight—but the record in this department is held jointly by Don Decker and Doug Metz, of Fort Hill, with 39 points each.

Bradford Posts Double

Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, of Keyser, earned a double title this season in pacing the area scorers with 86 tallies and the Potomac Valley Conference with 67 markers.

Republicans Win Two

Triple Tie For NFL Lead Possible If Browns And Eagles Win Sunday

New Yorkers Face Big Test In Cleveland

Game May Attract 80,000; Dallas To Play Philadelphia

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

The Cleveland Browns throw the running might of Jimmy Brown and Bobby Mitchell into the jaws of the New York Giants' voracious defense Sunday in a battle for Eastern Division supremacy in the National Football League.

Coach Paul Brown's men were 2-point favorites over the Giants for this clash that will be watched by a crowd of nearly 80,000 in Cleveland.

And if the oddsmakers are correct, the Eastern Division race will be locked in a three-team tie by nightfall Sunday. The Philadelphia Eagles were the choice by 14 points at home over the Dallas Cowboys. Should the Browns and the Eagles win, they would be tied with the Giants for first place, all with 8-3 records.

The Western Division race was just about clinched by the Green Bay Packers Thanksgiving Day when they beat the Detroit Lions, 17-9.

Favor Chicago Bears

In Sunday's other NFL games, the Chicago Bears were favored by 8 points at home over the Los Angeles Rams; the Baltimore Colts were picked by 13 over the Redskins at Washington; the Pittsburgh Steelers were 8 at home over the St. Louis Cardinals, and the San Francisco Forty-Niners were 17 over the Minnesota Vikings on the West Coast.

The Giants, who have scored 133 points in their last three games, once again will start rookies in two key positions. Mickey Walker will fill in at offensive guard for injured Jack Stroud and Allan Webb will play safety because Dick Nolan and Billy Stitts are disabled.

Cleveland undoubtedly has the best 1-2 running punch in pro football. Jimmy Brown gained a record-equaling 237 yards last week against the Eagles. By not strange coincidence, the Giants' success in beating the Browns in recent seasons has hinged on how well they contain Brown.

Eagles Make Switch

The Eagles, who have lost their latest two games to the Giants and Browns, will make a major switch for their game against Dallas. Coach Nick Skorich will move Chuck Bednarik, 13-year NFL veteran, from offensive center to middle linebacker in an effort to strengthen a defense that has yielded 83 points in the last two games.

Fort Hill And Beall Cop Thanksgiving Day Games

Allegany, LaSalle Bow To Rivals By 14-0 Scores

Fort Hill High's Sentinels regained the city championship by defeating Allegany High's Campers before approximately 6,000 wet and shivering fans at Fort Hill stadium and Beall High's Mountaineers closed out the most successful season on the gridiron by downing LaSalle High's Explorers in the rain at Frostburg in their annual Thanksgiving Day clashes on Thursday. Both scores were 14-0.

Quarterback Ronnie Manges plunged for both touchdowns for Coach Charles Lattimer's Sentinels after Allegany fumbles had set up the scoring opportunities for the Fort Hill eleven.

Fort Hill, breaking a scoring drought which had seen the Sentinels blanked the past two years in the Turkey Day classic, threw up a rock-ribbed defense which set what is believed to be a record in the holiday affair.

The Sentinels forward wall so dominated play in the game which was played in a steady rain that Allegany failed to make a first down and wound up with no yardage gained on rushing plays. In fact, the Campers made only six yards for the day, that coming on Allegany's only completed pass in the second quarter.

A slight drizzle which started just before the kickoff turned into a steady downpour which dampened the spirits of the spectators and decidedly curtailed the beauty and pageantry of the halftime ceremonies at the local stadium. Umbrellas were much in evidence

Oilers Favored Over Denver By Twenty Points

Texans Are Picked To Defeat Oakland

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International

Coach Wally Lemm warned his Houston Oilers Saturday to concentrate on Sunday's "soft-touch" American Football League game against the Denver Broncos and forget about next week's headline clash with the powerful San Diego Chargers.

The Oilers, who lead the Eastern Division of the AFL, were 20-point favorites to beat the Broncos at Houston, and that was one of the factors which caused Lemm concern. He feared his Oilers might take Denver too lightly.

The game which occupied the thoughts of most of the Oilers players was the return meeting with the undefeated Chargers at Houston, Dec. 3. San Diego, which has won 11 straight games, defeated the Oilers, 34-24, early this season.

In Sunday's only other AFL game, the Dallas Texans were the choice by 13 points at home over the Oakland Raiders. San Diego and the Boston Patriots were idle.

Houston now has won five straight games since Lemm replaced Lou Rymkus as coach. Their present record is 6-3-1, compared to 6-4-1 for the runnerup patriots. The Oilers were reported in excellent shape for the Denver game.

"Stop George Blanda," will be the Broncos' watchword. Blanda passed for four touchdowns and gained 456 yards when the Oilers drubbed Denver, 55-14, three weeks ago. Last weekend against the New York Titans, Blanda passed for seven touchdowns and accounted for 418 yards.

The Dallas-Oakland game is a battle between two of the AFL's biggest losers. The Texans have a 3-7 record; Oakland is 2-8. Dallas has lost five straight games.

River Bend Dam Could Aid State, Report Says

Consultant Gives State Conclusions

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A flood of tourist-recreation dollars was forecast Friday if the state properly develops the potentials created by a proposed dam on the Potomac River at River Bend.

Checchi and Co., a Washington consulting firm, told the Maryland Department of Economic Development that the tourism-recreation expenditures at River Bend should produce $232 million annually.

The firm submitted a report to the state agency on the potential economic significance of the River Bend project for Maryland.

Gov. Tawes, in accepting the report, said it "in no way represents the conclusions of the administration." He added, however, that it was "part of an effort of help us come to sound and informed conclusions when the time for decision arrives."

Evaluation Sought

Tawes said that he had asked various state agencies to assemble data in their areas of "competence and concern" to help evaluate the various proposals of the Corps of Engineers.

The report said a "substantial capital investment" will be required to develop the volume of tourism and recreation at River Bend. It said public and private new capital will have to be raised to finance accommodations for 800,000 tourists a year, construct access roads and public facilities, and finance an effective tourism development program.

The firm said the dam could result in an annual gain in the state gross state product of about $325 million, a tax revenue increase of about $7.9 million and a return of $3 or more for every $1 the state spends on development of River Bend and the overall Potomac River Basin.

Economic Impact

The study also reported on the potential economic impact of the dam to Frederick and Montgomery counties.

Montgomery County would, the report said, realize a net rise in overall income of about $160 million yearly, gain $6.5-$8 million in tax revenue and show a net capital gain of about $2.4 billion.

For Frederick County, the report forecast a net rise in income of about $69 million yearly, a tax revenue gain of about $2 million a year and a net capital gain of about one billion dollars.

The report called for conferences with Virginia on the possibility of a bi-state commission to develop River Bend and other areas of cooperation. It also suggested talks with the Corps of Engineers on "areas of mutual interest" and an increase in Maryland's tourist development budget.

Time Extended For Repair Job

The owner of a building in South Cumberland will be allowed 60 days to make needed repairs.

The Mayor and Council, at an informal meeting this week with officials of the Allegany Building, Loan and Savings Company, doubled a 30-day extension for work on the building at 131-133 Springdale Street.

City officials were told that the building is to be completely renovated, but that 30 days would not give time to make repairs after tenants find another place to stay.

Under the agreement, the property will be checked by the Engineering Department in 60 days. If repairs are not completed, but can be finished in another 30 days, such a time extension will be recommended to the Mayor and Council.

Conservation Plans Mapped At Meet Here

Some 14 conservation practices were adopted yesterday during a meeting of the Allegany County Development Group which met to map plans for the 1962 agricultural conservation program in Allegany County.

The meeting was held at the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, 126 Union Street.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, office manager, said the number of practices is less than this year's and it is hoped the farmers will participate in the program more so than in past years.

The more popular practices include seeding, permanent legumes and grasses, application of liming material, fertilizer to permanent pasture improvement, contour strip cropping, diversion terraces, tree planting and forest improvement.

Those participating in the annual program are assisted by the federal government which picks up half the price tag and bears 50 per cent of the expense.

About 140 farmers have been participating in the program, according to Miss Hoover, who said that there are about 769 farms in the county area.

Attending yesterday's meeting were Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service; Beeson B. Snyder, Farmers Home Administration representative; Harry M. Hartman, assistant district forester; William Harman, fish culturist of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Also Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent; James R. Twigg, president of the Farm Bureau in the county; Brady H. Dolly, Charles S. Harvey and Albert K. Kinser, members of the ASC committee; Wilbert R. Paul, soil conservation district supervisor.

Polio Immunity Rechecks For 30 Persons Today

About 30 persons who were discovered to have no immunity to Type II poliovirus during the recent oral polio vaccination program of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society will be rechecked today to determine whether they have acquired immunity since taking the Sabin oral vaccine.

Doctors said blood tests given to nearly 200 volunteers when the Type II oral vaccine was given here last month showed about 30 persons lacked sufficient immunity to Type II polio.

The non-immune persons have received letters asking them to be at Memorial Hospital dispensary between 4 and 5 p. m. today for a recheck. Doctors urged that they take today's test to determine whether they now have immunity to Type II poliovirus, as this will be their only chance to find out.

Both Mrs. Pifer and Wickard were fined $500 by the magistrate, who ordered them committed to jail for six months in default of the fines. Mrs. Pifer was sentenced to the Woman's Reformatory and Wickard will serve his term in the House of Correction.

Detective Kenneth W. Morrissey arrested Mrs. Pifer and Wickard Wednesday in connection with a morals case in which the 14-year-old boy also was involved.

The boy also was found guilty of being a delinquent minor and was placed on probation by Magistrate Fatkin.

In another case heard yesterday by Magistrate Fatkin, a 14-year-old local boy also was found guilty of being a delinquent minor. However, sentence was deferred until next week.

Fitness Tests Scheduled For School Pupils

Fourth, Fifth, Sixth Graders Included

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders in the Allegany County public schools will be given physical fitness tests between next Monday and December 15, according to Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education in the county schools.

The State Department of Education has received reports from 17 of the 24 public school systems in Maryland which show that more than 24 per cent of the children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades have been given physical fitness tests of one kind or another in the opening two months of the 1961-62 school year.

Most popular battery of tests currently in use is that recommended in Suggested Elements of a School-Centered Program For Youth Physical Fitness, a publication issued by the President's Council on Youth Fitness. The test items are pullups, modified for girls; situps and squat thrusts.

All Maryland school systems reporting show that physical fitness or body conditioning exercises are regularly conducted by the schools for all students.

The secondary school reports for the junior and senior high school indicate that nearly two-thirds of the students have been tested in the same period and that the battery of physical fitness tests developed by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation is the most popular.

Junior and senior high school reports to the State Department of Education show that physical fitness or body conditioning exercises are included regularly in the physical education program. Secondary school programs are placing greater stress on tumbling activities, gymnastic apparatus, resistive exercises and weight lifting.

This information was obtained from a comprehensive status study of physical education programs in Maryland public schools conducted by the State Department of Education.

The study seeks to determine (1) status, trends and progress of school physical education programs and (2) what is being done for physical fitness, a unique objective of physical education.

PE To Sponsor Two Meetings

The annual meeting for electrical contractors, building contractors and representatives of the Potomac Edison Company, held here for the past 15 years, has been reorganized into two separate meetings this year.

Garland L. Johnston, district manager for PE, said this year's meeting will be held Monday, November 27, and Tuesday, November 28, at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Building contractors, bankers, architects and representatives of lending institutions in the Cumberland, Frostburg, Keyser and Romney areas have been invited to attend Monday's meeting.

Tuesday's meeting will be devoted to a session with electrical contractors from the same areas. Both meetings will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Special promotion programs concerning PE activities with these groups will be announced at the meetings. They will deal primarily with the electric heating and certified wiring phases of the company's Medallion Home program.

Conducting the dinner-meetings will be E. A. Roof, J. H. Reddig and D. S. Dorman of PE's general offices in Hagerstown, as well as local PE representatives.

HAS LEAD ROLE—Ted Troxell plays the lead role in the Algonquin Players' production "The Gazebo" Wednesday and Thursday on the stage of the Maryland Theatre. The comedy was written by Alex Cappel.

Social Security Office To Have Evening Hours

The Social Security district office here will be open from 5 to 7 p. m. on Tuesday for the next three weeks for the convenience of persons 65 years of age or over who work during the day.

Walter R. Campbell, manager of the office, said that many older people in the Cumberland area who are still employed do not understand the recent changes in the social security law now makes it possible for a substantial number of them to collect some benefits in addition to their earnings.

Older workers made eligible to collect some social security benefits for the year 1961, may lose the payments due them if they do not make application before the end of January 1962, he said.

"Unfortunately," Mr. Campbell added, "a number of older people continue to think that they cannot collect any social security benefits at all if their earnings are over $1200 for the year." "This is not true," he emphasized and, to show how recent changes in the social security law work, he cited the following example:

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who are both 65, could upon application become entitled to a combined monthly benefit of $150 based on Mr. Smith's average earnings under social security of around $3,200 to $3,300 a year. Up until this year, this couple could not be paid any of their benefits if Mr. Smith's annual earnings amounted to over $2,000.

"With the recent change in the law Mr. Smith could have earnings of $2,500 in 1961 and the couple would have at least $750 in benefits coming to them for the year. If his earnings were $3,000, the couple would get at least $250 of their social security benefits; even if he earned as much as $3,200, they would be able to collect at least $50 in benefits for the year."

The social security manager suggests that working people 65 or over who have not yet applied for their social security benefits, stop in at the office during the day or during the special Tuesday evening hours, to find out just where they stand.

Some may find that their earnings are too substantial to permit payment of any benefits right now, but the time devoted to their visit will still be well spent. Mr. Campbell pointed out that, "There is no disadvantage in filing a claim for social security benefits after a worker has reached 65, even though he may be earning more than would permit him to draw benefits at the present time. Even if no payments are payable now, the necessary paper work in applying for benefits can be taken care of so that checks can be issued without delay after earnings have gone down or stopped entirely."

The local social security district office is at 6 Pershing Street, telephone, PArkview 4-0970.

County Obtains $63,794 Total In October

Five-Month Yield Reaches $3,384,640

October tax collections of $63,794 brought to $3,384,640.67 the amount collected by Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff and his staff since the 1961 tax bills were distributed about June 1.

The October yield was well ahead of the $43,937.20 collected in Mr. Orndorff's office in October 1960.

Collections for the five-months from June through October are $72,007.22 below the $3,456,647.20 collected in the corresponding period a year ago.

The five-month total this year represents 97.6 per cent of the $3,469,000 the county commissioners estimated last April would be collected in the entire fiscal year. The commissioners traditionally keep their estimated collections low when they set the county tax rate in April.

October collections by Mr. Orndorff's staff included $30,610.86 in county taxes, $33,123.62 from corporations and $60 in trailer arrival taxes.

Collections also were received at the Court House last month for four special taxing areas of the county. Included were $290.16 for LaVale, $278.03 for Cresaptown, $11.27 for Potomac Park and $209.79 for Mt. Savage.

The monthly county tax collection totals, with the 1960 figure listed first in each case:

June — $3,093,337.68 and $2,966,246.29; July — $1,849.02 and $139,668.05; August — $136,673.34 and $131,443.55; September — $50,850.65 and $83,488.30, and October — $43,937.20 and $63,794.48.

State Adopts New Rules For Nursing Homes

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Health adopted Friday new regulations designed to strengthen medical care and patient supervision in Maryland nursing homes.

All 145 nursing homes must meet the new standards at the time each home's license comes up for annual renewal. They must comply with the regulations by Jan. 1, however, if they are to benefit from higher grants for welfare patients which become effective on that date.

Existing nursing home regulations now cover only safety and sanitation.

Herbert G. Fritz, chief of the State Health Department's division of hospital services, told the board all but 30 homes already had complied with the new regulations.

He said public health nurses in the counties would be asked to make informal checks on medical supervision in the homes. Primary enforcement responsibilities will remain in the hands of state officials, he said.

The board also approved the division of Springfield State Hospital, a facility for the mentally ill, into two units.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, state commissioner of mental hygiene, requested approval of the proposal, which he said would improve both patient treatment and administrative efficiency.

Large hospitals — those over 2,000 beds — have a tendency to become impersonal institutions, Dr. Tuerk said. Springfield now treats 3,240 patients.

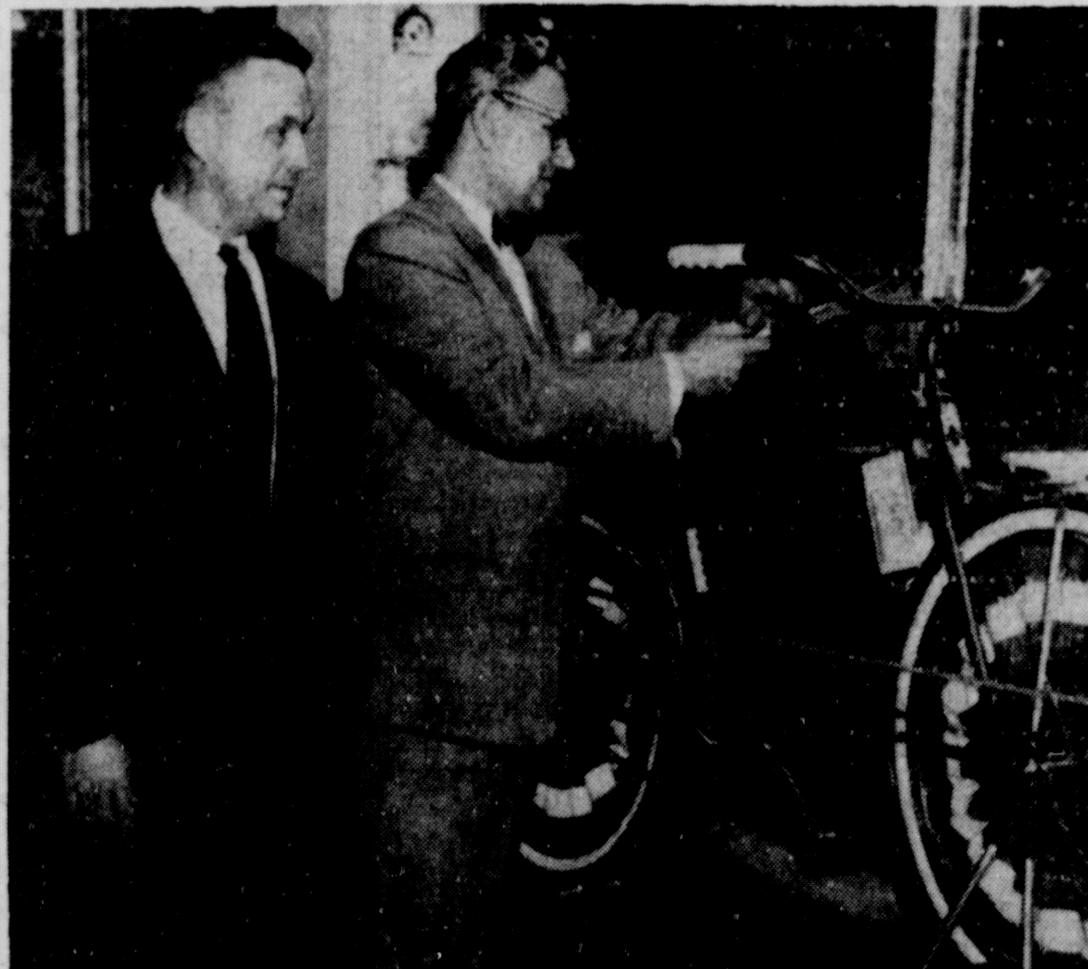

The commissioner said the two units would have separate staffs but would continue to operate under a single superintendent.

Court Probates Wills Of Two

Wills of two Allegany County residents, both of whom died earlier this month at the age of 68, were probated Friday in Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of John Mowbray of Barton, who died November 13. A sister, Miss Maude E. Mowbray, Barton, qualified as executrix under a $200 bond. Miss Mowbray was bequeathed all of her brother's real estate in Barton and all of the rest of the estate was left to another sister, Mrs. Lillian A. Goebel, North Haven, Conn. The will was dated January 12, 1957.

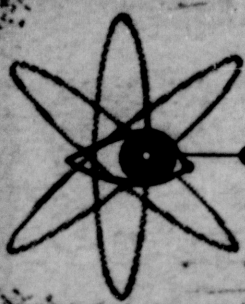

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Nellie Thompson, who lived at 53 Main Street, Frostburg, at the time of her death November 20. Her two sons, William Jerome Thompson, Harrisburg, Pa., and James Carroll Thompson, Rockville, qualified as executors under a $1,000 bond. Aside from a $200 bequest to St. Michael's Catholic Church all of her estate was left equally to the two sons. The will was dated May 29, 1959.

Zembower's Opens

Glenn Zembower, left, operator of Zembower's American Hardware which opened yesterday at North Centre and Frederick streets, watches Walter A. Fraley Jr., assistant treasurer of the Liberty Trust Company, lock the speedometer on a bicycle in the new store's window. The bike will be given to the person who guesses the number of miles its front wheel will have traveled in a given length of time. Meanwhile, Liberty Trust will keep the key to the lock in its vault.

'Dr. Kildare' Series Was Failure At First

By PAUL GERARD

It took a second try and some major revamping for the famous "Dr. Kildare" story to break into television. Now that the popular motion picture series has made it on television as an hour-long drama each week it appears it may be as successful as the motion picture series. The TV series has gotten good reviews, and its ratings have been good.

When MGM first attempted to cash in on the story, they made a half-hour pilot with Lew Ayres (the original movie Kildare) playing Kildare 20 years later and a younger actor as intern. However, it found no buyers.

The new "Dr. Kildare" series brings to television veteran actor, Raymond Massey in the role of Dr. Gillespie, the gruff but understanding man of medicine—the role Lionel Barrymore made so memorable two decades ago. This is the first time that Massey has appeared in a regular TV series. He found the part so attractive that he broke his precedent.

In the title role is tall, blond and handsome Richard Chamberlain. Although a comparative newcomer, Chamberlain in the first few episodes has proved an exceptional choice.

Prior to the filming of the pilot, Chamberlain, in the true tradition of the greater artists, attempted to make his portrayal most believable by actually living the life of a doctor for a day. He freely admits that he never had been in a hospital as a patient and only once as a visitor. He also states the extent of his knowledge of the sciences was the physiology he took in high school and the geology in college.

So dressed in the green gown that doctors wear, he worked with a Dr. Andros who was an intern at Los Angeles County Hospital.

"The nurses called me 'Doc,' the actor recalled, "and so did the kids.

Chamberlain's rounds ended with visits, more or less uneventful, to the orthopedic and neurosurgery wards. So a second tour had to be scheduled for the piece de resistance—a visit to surgery.

With the excessive amount of violence on TV today, "Dr. Kildare" is a welcomed and perhaps a salutary contrast.

'Day In Court' Is Talent Land

ABC-TV's "Day In Court," currently in its fourth year, has fast become a showcase for neophytes.

In casting about for true-to-life types, the show's producer Gene Banks and casting director Pam Palifroni have led at least two persons to find new careers.

One of these, Jim Murdoch, was engaged directly from the cab he was driving to play a bit as a cabbie. Jim never returned to hacking after the experience and is now earning a regular living as an actor with a prominent role in a top TV western.

Jane Betts, a drafting engineer at an airframe plant, wandered in one day to audition for a like role on "Day In Court," read the lines, won the part and was so bitten by the show biz bug that she discontinued drafting. Jane is rapidly becoming one of Hollywood's most sought after character actresses.

The show also is proud that two hard-working professional unknowns gained featured billing in other shows after appearing in the courtroom series. Jack Chaplin became a protege of Nick Adams and appeared in "The Rebel."
